Kissinger Ends Round Of Talks On Middle East

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has finished a round of talks with Arab and Israeli diplomats in an effort to find a peaceful solution to Middle East problems.

A U.S. State Department spokesman described the meetings Thursday and Friday as "a new kind of dialogue" but emphasized to newsmen that no new U.S. proposals had come out of the discussions.

Kissinger conferred in his hotel suite Friday with foreign ministry officials from Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon and Morocco and on Thursday talked with the Israelis and Saudi Arabians.

"I have the impression he will do his best," said Foreign Minister Zuhayr Almufti of Jordan after a 25-minute session with Kissinger.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed H. el-Zayyet termed the talks "a frank and useful exchange of views." When asked if there was a new American peace initiative, he quipped to newsmen, "They didn't tell me."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, who spent an hour with Kissinger on Thursday, said the conference was "very satisfactory in every way" and indicated that there was no U.S. pressure on Jerusalem to change its position.

The United States has supported Israel's refusal to promise withdrawal of its troops from territories occupied after the 1967 Middle East war until boundaries have been recognized to replace the cease-fire lines.

Egypt, the main focus of peace efforts on the Arab side, has refused to enter negotiations until the troops are withdrawn.

At another meeting, Kissinger told representatives from 23 Latin American countries that the United States is "serious about starting a new dialogue with our friends" in the Western Hemisphere.

No Immunity For Agnew Federal Lawyers Argue

BALTIMORE (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has no constitutional immunity from criminal prosecution, the Justice Department argues.

Replying Friday to legal questions raised by Agnew's lawyers, U. S. Solicitor General Robert H. Bork said in a written brief that only the president has such immunity.

Lawyers for Agnew have sought to halt the federal grand jury investigation of the vice president, contending Agnew must be impeached before he can be criminally prosecuted.

In other developments in the Agnew case Friday:

—The federal prosecutors met for more than two hours with Jerome Wolff, the engineering consultant and former Agnew aide who is expected to be a key witness next week before the grand jury.

—Agnew lawyers issued subpoenas for newsmen representing six publications and two broadcast networks, seeking to force the reporters to reveal the source of news leaks concerning the Agnew investigation.

Clear Skies, Cool Air Dominant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clear skies and cool temperatures prevailed in the eastern third of the nation today, while clouds and rain dominated the weather at other spots.

Cloudy skies were the rule in the central and southern Plains and parts of the middle Mississippi valley, with scattered showers and thundershowers reported from Texas into central Kansas.

Winds up to 35 miles per hour whipped across the eastern Dakotas, central Nebraska and western Minnesota, and a freeze warning was issued for the Sacramento Mountains of New Mexico.

A storm system off the Oregon coast spread rain and clouds through the Pacific Northwest, but fair skies favored the Rockies and interior sections of the Pacific states.

Middle East Explodes; Egypt Crosses Suez

BEIRUT (AP) — Egyptian troops crossed the Suez Canal today for the first time since the 1967 war to engage Israeli forces in the Israeli-occupied Sinai peninsula, Cairo Radio announced.

Fighting erupted on the Egyptian and Syrian fronts today as Israel called for a partial mobilization of its forces.

The fighting broke out about 2 p.m. — 8 a.m. EDT — within hours after the Israelis broke their solemn Yom Kippur fast to call up an undisclosed number of reserves.

Sirens sounded throughout Israel five minutes later, forcing thousands from their homes and synagogues into air raid shelters.

A military spokesman said, "The Israeli forces are in action against the aggressors."

Syrian and Israeli jet fighters were reported engaged in dog fights over the Mt. Hermon area, where Israeli, Syrian and Lebanese borders meet.

Cairo Radio said that Israeli jets hammered Egyptian positions at Zafrat and Sukhna near the southern end of the Suez Canal.

The Egyptian radio said Egypt's forces were repelling the attack.

Commenting on the action along the 60-mile long Golan Heights cease-fire line in Syria, a military spokesman on Damascus Radio said Syrian troops were returning fire "to silence enemy positions."

He said Syrian air force jets intercepted Israeli planes trying to violate Syrian airspace and a dog fight broke out.

One Syrian plane crashed in Lebanese territory, reports reaching Beirut said.

According to the Damascus broadcast, fierce ground and air battles were continuing.

Newsmen near the Syrian front heard artillery barrages and reported seeing shells falling near Israeli farming settlements.

Premier Golda Meir's cabinet met in emergency session shortly before the fighting erupted and a communique said the government had taken special powers to "issue emergency orders."

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told the cabinet that Arab troops were building up along the Syrian and Egyptian fronts "with aggressive intentions," a spokesman said.

First sign of possible trouble came Sept. 26, when Dayan visited Jewish settlements on the occupied Golan Heights and warned that "across the Syrian border there are hundreds of tanks and hundreds of artillery barrels in operative range."

He charged that Syria had installed "anti-aircraft missile layouts approaching in density those of the Egyptians on the Suez Canal." He blamed the Soviets for the arms buildup in Syria.

Dayan said Israeli settlements must be strengthened against the threat.

Earlier, Lt. Gen. David Elazar, the Israeli chief of staff, warned Syria not to permit Arab guerrillas to resume activities along the Golan Heights.

Elazar's warning came two days after a Sept. 13 dogfight between Israeli and Syrian jets above the Mediterranean. The Israelis claimed they knocked down 13 Syrian MIG21 fighters while losing one. The Syrians claimed shooting down five Israeli peachment must precede indictment would make a failure by Congress to impeach equal to a grant of immunity from criminal prosecution.

The government pointed out that no impeachment preceded the murder indictment of Aaron Burr, Thomas Jefferson's vice president, in the early 1800s or that of Otto Kerner, a federal appeals judge convicted this year in Illinois of conspiracy, fraud, perjury, bribery and income tax evasion.

House Speaker Carl Albert has rejected the vice president's request for immediate House investigation of the case but he left the door open for a future handling of the matter by the House.

Northwest Faces Power Shortage

SEATTLE (AP) — The rain is cursed for many things in the Northwest, from spoiling picnics to giving Seattle one of the highest suicide rates in the country. But seldom has it been cursed for not falling.

After an unusually dry summer, water levels behind hydroelectric dams are at record lows, and the Northwest Power Pool is facing a 15 billion kilowatt hour deficit if there is another dry winter.

Seattle City Light has inaugurated a "Kill-A-Watt" program to save on electricity, and there is surprisingly broad-based community concern for the energy shortage.

Banks and department stores are unplugging their signs. The airports have reduced runway lighting, and the freeways are darker.

The Simpson Timber Co. is even cranking up an old steam power plant that runs on wood scraps.

City Light officials are encouraged by the public reaction to "Kill-A-Watt" and report a 4.2 per cent reduction in use for Seattle and a five per cent reduction regionally.

A neon sign company is encouraging customers to turn off its product. The president of the company, John Ford, says he is an enthusiastic supporter of the "Kill-A-Watt" program.

But Ford says he believes the practice should be a voluntary one. Oregon Gov. Tom McCall recently ordered all neon signs in the state turned off — day and night.

Drizzly northwest weather has returned recently, but officials say it will take an abnormally wet season to refill the reservoirs.

The power pool supplies energy for Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, most of Montana, part of British Columbia and Northern California.

2 Charged With Boston Murder

BOSTON (AP) — Two teenagers have been charged in the killing of a 65-year-old fisherman, one of two white persons slain by gangs of black youths here this week.

The juveniles, one 15 and the other 16, were arraigned Friday on charges of delinquency by reason of murder and robbery. One of them was held in $20,000 bail and the other in $30,000 bail.

Chilean Red Faces Death

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Luis Corvalan, the Chilean Communist leader imprisoned by the military junta for high treason, says he does not fear execution by a firing squad.

"I'm calm. I love liberty very much. I have much love for life," he said in an interview Friday night. "But I don't fear death if I am going to die for a just cause."

As secretary-general of the Chilean Communist party for 16 years, the 57-year-old Corvalan is the highest-ranking Marxist leader arrested since the armed forces toppled President Salvador Allende on Sept. 11.

He is being held in a sparsely furnished dormitory room at the army's military academy, along with 10 other high ranking leftist politicians.

Corvalan was an intimate of Allende and went into hiding shortly after the Marxist president's downfall and death. The military junta quickly placed him on its most-wanted leftist fugitive list, and he was captured last Friday in an apartment house near Santiago.

"I have no idea when I will be tried," he said. "I know even less about military justice."

The junta says he will stand trial for high treason and may face execution. The junta says there have been 33 executions since the coup and many leftists fear Corvalan's death is imminent.

"I have a very tranquil conscience because, as the whole world knows, we organized a revolution without violent action, without having to use arms. We made errors. I don't dispute this. We don't wash our hands in respect to the errors," Corvalan said in the interview.

They were turned over by the Dorchester District Court to the state Youth Services Board, police said.

Police said they still were seeking other persons in connection with the Thursday robbery-homicide of Ludovico Louis Barba.

He was fishing in a bay near the Columbia Point housing project when police said he was pelted with rocks by youths, stabbed with his own knife and robbed.

Police termed an earlier report that Barba had been stoned to death an "unfortunate mistake." They said the group of youths had thrown stones at him but an autopsy showed his death had been caused by multiple stab wounds. Police said that within 20 minutes of the incident, a white man moving furniture into an apartment at the project was robbed and stabbed several times in the back. He was listed in fair condition at a Boston hospital early today.

The two youths charged with Barba's death are black, and police said the youths who attacked the delivery man were black.

Police Supt. Jeremiah P. Sullivan said the incidents were "definitely tied together."

The other murder victim, Evelyn R. Wagler, 24, died early Wednesday in

Demos Seek To Heal Split Over Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats, facing their most serious party split since the last election, today try to work out a compromise over the question of convention quotas.

Party chairman Robert Strauss started pressing peace negotiations Friday night after a meeting of the reform commission drafting committee broke up in anger.

The committee is trying to agree on a modification of the rule that resulted in virtual quotas for women, minority groups and youth at the 1972 convention.

However, commission chairman Barbara Mikulski declared she was ready to press for a showdown vote on the quota issue regardless of the outcome of Strauss' off-stage mediation.

Miss Mikulski said, "we're going to fish or cut bait" when the committee reconvenes today.

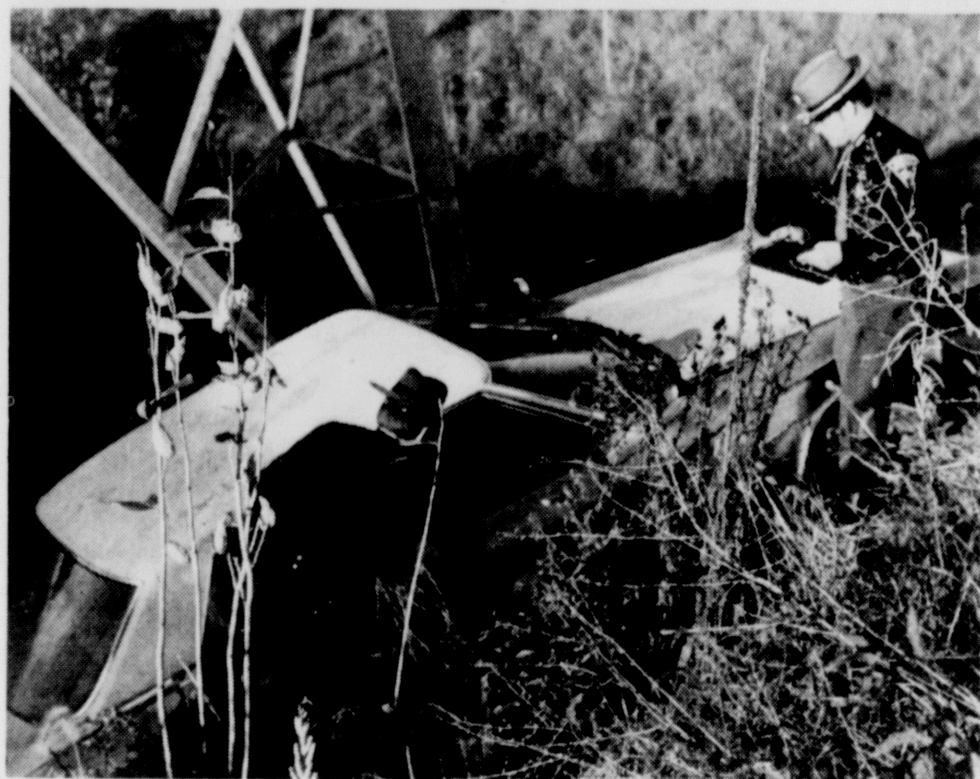

Friday's session opened the second weekend of what had otherwise been relatively peaceful rules writing by the committee. But it broke up in discord over a proposed rule to require the party to take "affirmative action" to get women and minority groups into party participation "in reasonable relationship to their presence in the Democratic electorate."

Opponents of the rule proposed by Gary, Ind., Mayor Richard Hatcher said the language smacked too much of the quotas which contributed to the party's disastrous split during the 1972 presidential campaign.

At this point, the second attempt to recess the late-night meeting succeeded, with partisans on both sides voting to allow time for overnight peace making.

Press Battles Agnew Subpoenas

WASHINGTON (AP) — News organizations whose reporters have been subpoenaed to reveal sources of stories about the investigation of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew say they will fight the action as an invasion of First Amendment rights.

Reporters for The New York Times, New York Daily News, Washington Post, Washington Star-News, CBS, NBC, Time and Newsweek Magazines were ordered to appear in a Baltimore court Thursday, bringing notes of conversations with official sources.

"We will vigorously oppose this step in the courts with all the resources at our command," said The New York Times.

"The Washington Post and Newsweek consider these subpoenas an invasion of their right and the rights of the public under the First Amendment to the Constitution, particularly since any response to them would require the revelation of confidential news sources," said Joseph A. Califano Jr., lawyer for the two publications.

Richard S. Salant, president of CBS

News, said that without the ability to keep sources confidential "American journalism and the free flow of information would be dealt a severe blow."

Agnew's lawyers were given authority earlier in the week to issue subpoenas and take depositions to probe the source of leaks about the Agnew investigation.

The subpoenas were served Friday on:

Fred Graham, CBS; Nicholas Gage, New York Times; Richard Cohen, Washington Post; Robert Walters and Ronald Sarro, Washington Star-News; William Sherman, New York Daily News; Stephan Leshner, Newsweek; Ron Nessen, NBC, and unnamed Newsweek and Time staffers who helped prepare certain articles.

There were unconfirmed reports the Justice Department also was served with a subpoena, but a spokesman refused to comment.

Agnew has alleged the leaks came from the department, an allegation denied by Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson.

Resistant Hybrids Are Best Control Of Corn Blights

By GEORGE HAMRICK

County Extension Agent, Agriculture
When selecting corn hybrids for 1974 plantings, ask the seed dealer if the hybrids selected are resistant to Northern Corn Leaf Blight, suggest C. Wayne Ellett, Extension Plant Pathologist at the Ohio State University. If the seeds-man can't answer the question, ask him to get the information from the company he represents, Ellett adds.

Leaf blight diseases of corn have been widespread in Ohio in each of the last two years, Ellett explains. The most damaging and widespread of the leaf blight diseases have been Northern corn leaf blight (NCLB) caused by the fungus Helminthosporium turcicum and bacterial leaf blight (BLB) caused by a bacterium, Erwinia stewartii.

Northern corn leaf blight caused the greatest reduction in yield in 1972 and appears likely to be equally damaging in 1973, according to Ellett. Yield losses in 1972 ranged from a few bushels per acre to as high as 60 bushels per acre. Losses are estimated to be as great in 1973 in some Ohio fields.

Loss in yield due to these two leaf blight diseases will occur if the corn hybrid selected for planting is susceptible and if environmental factors are favorable for disease development. In the case of NCLB, periods of warm weather and moisture in the form of rain or heavy dews at the following tasselling are favorable for disease development.

The extent of BLB is correlated with the relative prevalence of corn flea beetles that carry the bacterium and spread it from plant to plant as they feed on the leaves. Environmental factors affect the prevalence of the beetles.

Since little can be done to control the environment, the best way to eliminate or reduce these diseases is by selecting resistant hybrids, Ellett says.

There are two types of genetic resistance to NCLB. One is known as the single dominant gene (Ht) type of resistance. Lesions may develop on corn with this type of resistance, but they are usually restricted in size, and sporulation of the blight fungus does not occur or is minimal. This prevents rapid spread of the disease.

The second kind of resistance is known as multiple gene resistance, resulting in plants with fewer and smaller lesions. Many commercial hybrids have one or the other of these types of resistance. Many other hybrids have one or the other of these types of resistance. Many other hybrids do not. Corn hybrids with multiple-gene type of resistance to NCLB are also likely to be resistant to

And So It Grows

By GEORGE HAMRICK

You're invited to Dedication Day of the new Horticulture Garden, October 7. Open house viewing takes place from 2-4 p.m. at the garden, located immediately north of the Agricultural Administration Building (corner of Lane Avenue and Fyffe Road, Columbus). A brief ceremony will take place at 2:30 to recognize the many generous contributors to the garden. Faculty and students guides will be on hand to answer questions. So, take a couple of hours Sunday afternoon to see the many different shrubs, trees, and flowering plants that students (and others) are studying while on campus.

Horticulture specialists get a lot of questions about curing gourds.

Since gourds are used in making dippers, spoons, ladies, salt and sugar containers, birdhouses and, particularly, ornamental and decorative pieces, proper curing is important.

The thin-shelled or hard-drying gourds are the most durable and are the ones that most commonly serve as decorations. Thick-fleshed gourds are more in the nature of pumpkins and squashes and are almost as perishable.

Gather thin-shelled gourds at the time the shells begin to harden, the fruits become lighter in weight, and the tendrils on the vines near the gourds begin to shrivel and dry. For best results, give the gourds plenty of time to cure. Some kinds require six months or a year to cure.

All types of gourds should be handled carefully. Bruises discolor them and cause them to soften and decay.

If your gourds have not completed the curing process on the vine when you gather them, place them in a well-ventilated area to assure completion of the cure. Do not allow them to freeze, and inspect them often for soft or decaying ones.

Interested in a Mugho, or Mugho Swissmountain Pine, for your landscape? The Mugho Pine is one which often grows like a shrub and remains many-stemmed and bush-like. The tree originally grew in the Eastern Alps and in the mountains of the Balkans. It has many forms, some of which will grow into small trees with a single stem. Others always remain shrub-like or even prostrate, hugging the ground.

Mugho Pine has been cultivation as an ornamental since 1779. It is quite hardy weatherwise when grown on a well-drained site.

Protein Needs Of Swine Studied

Agriculture

The modern market pig bears only faint resemblance to his ancestors of several decades back. Today's streamlined porkers are longer, leaner, and meatier—producing nearly 10 per cent more lean cuts than their counterparts of the mid-1950's.

The switch to meat-type hogs was in answer to consumer demand for more meat and less fat on chops and roasts. It came about largely through improved breeding. But feeding systems and diets had to be changed, too.

Dr. Don Mahan, research animal scientist with the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, says major changes in feeding practices for this type of pig have resulted in a general increase in crude protein recommendations for swine diets.

In the past, swine nutrition workers have recommended that producers use three levels of crude protein in pushing pigs from weaning to market. Under this feeding sequence, pigs get 16 per cent crude protein in their diets when they weigh 40 pounds. When they reach approximately 80 pounds, the crude protein is decreased to 14 per cent of their diet. And during the finishing phase - from 125 pounds to market weight of about 220 pounds - the dietary crude protein level is reduced to 13 per cent.

Mahan has been taking a closer look at supplemental protein in swine nutrition studies. In one recent study he worked with a group of 120 well-muscled pigs averaging just over 40 pounds at the start of the test. Pigs were put on four dietary protein treatments (14, 16, 18, and 20 per cent) until they weighed an average of 110 pounds, then all were switched to a constant 13 per cent crude protein diet until they reached market weight. Back fat on all the pigs was measured by sonar at the time they were put on the constant protein diet.

Mahan says his studies confirmed an increase in muscle development, feed efficiency, and a decrease in backfat as dietary protein level increased from 14 per cent to 18 per cent. But even though pigs on the lower protein level (14 per cent) did not deposit as much muscle tissue (lean) during the growing phase, they compensated by depositing more muscle and less fat during the finishing phase. By the time they reached market weight, pigs on the lower protein levels performed the same and had similar carcasses to those on the early high protein diets.

Mahan says the study shows that a simpler feeding plan (14 per cent crude protein to 110-120 pounds and 13 per cent thereafter) was adequate in his studies for top performance. He feels further study may even indicate a constant level of crude protein can be fed the entire feeding period.

Does this mean swine producers can reduce the amount of costly protein for hogs? Probably it doesn't mean a significant reduction in total protein

Many people are unaware of the service or community projects undertaken by 4-H clubs. This year we asked each club to tell us about their contributions to the betterment of their surroundings.

What surprised us was the variety of projects. Some examples are: collecting for Herat, Cancer, Multiple Sclerosis, Berger Hospital, Betty Crocker coupons for a kidney machine; donating to the Hamrick Youth Fund; planting flowers, trees, entertaining patients and saving craft materials for nursing homes; donating to purchase flags, flagging soldier's graves on Memorial Day; making and purchasing toys for Red Cross; litter campaigns, painting and repairing outdoor basketball and tennis courts at a school; cleaning townhouse and baking cookies for May election; buying dresses and jewelry for four ladies with no families on Mother's Day; taking down old posters and signs; painting trash barrels at fairgrounds; cleaning fairgrounds before and after fair; donating a flag or piece of equipment to school used for meetings; making first aid kits for each school in district of the club; donating money to a needy family and working to take a whole community of children to Kings Island for a day. In one club each girl and advisor pledged an act of kindness for someone.

These are just part of many ways 4-H clubs help with their communities. They deserve recognition and praise for their efforts. Sometimes we take these deeds for granted instead of stopping to think about the amount of planning, time and effort it takes to make this world a better one. Thanks to all of you for your creative and unselfish attitudes. That is the HEART of 4-H.

Some children and adults have indicated they would like to know more about the projects we offer in 4-H. We have over 150 and although it would be impossible to describe all of them, in the coming weeks I would like to tell you about those that are new, different and perhaps not so familiar to you. Remember, too, if you have a special interest a 4-H club can be organized with eight or more boys and girls, age nine or in the third grade and older. They can be started any time and if we don't have a book on the subject we can write a pilot project book to be used. If the project succeeds, a book is printed and delivered for our use.

For this week we will explore the project MODEL AIRPLANES. Perhaps some of you saw the booth display of the Junior Pilots at the fair. Their advisor is Eugene Walker. In this project you will learn about aviation and flight principles by building a model airplane. Depending on the model you choose, you may or may not fly the model. Usually during the first year a basic model is chosen and in the following years you can progress to more difficult projects.

We have one club in Pickaway County now and it is filled, but we are hoping other adults with an interest in airplanes and children will start more. If you would like more information on this project or how to become an advisor please call us at 474-7534.

Resistant Hybrids Are Best Control Of Corn Blights

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
When selecting corn hybrids for 1974 plantings, ask the seed dealer if the hybrids selected are resistant to Northern Corn Leaf Blight, suggest C. Wayne Ellett, Extension Plant Pathologist at the Ohio State University. If the seeds-man can't answer the question, ask him to get the information from the company he represents, Ellett adds.

Leaf blight diseases of corn have been widespread in Ohio in each of the last two years, Ellett explains. The most damaging and widespread of the leaf blight diseases have been Northern corn leaf blight (NCLB) caused by the fungus Helminthosporium turcicum and bacterial leaf blight (BLB) caused by a bacterium, Erwinia stewartii.

Northern corn leaf blight caused the greatest reduction in yield in 1972 and appears likely to be equally damaging in 1973, according to Ellett. Yield losses in 1972 ranged from a few bushels per acre to as high as 60 bushels per acre. Losses are estimated to be as great in 1973 in some Ohio fields.

Loss in yield due to these two leaf blight diseases will occur if the corn hybrid selected for planting is susceptible and if environmental factors are favorable for disease development. In the case of NCLB, periods of warm weather and moisture in the form of rain or heavy dews at the following tasselling are favorable for disease development.

The extent of BLB is correlated with the relative prevalence of corn flea beetles that carry the bacterium and spread it from plant to plant as they feed on the leaves. Environmental factors affect the prevalence of the beetles.

Since little can be done to control the environment, the best way to eliminate or reduce these diseases is by selecting resistant hybrids, Ellett says.

There are two types of genetic resistance to NCLB. One is known as the single dominant gene (Ht) type of resistance. Lesions may develop on corn with this type of resistance, but they are usually restricted in size, and sporulation of the blight fungus does not occur or is minimal. This prevents rapid spread of the disease.

The second kind of resistance is known as multiple gene resistance, resulting in plants with fewer and smaller lesions. Many commercial hybrids have one or the other of these types of resistance. Many other hybrids have one or the other of these types of resistance. Many other hybrids do not. Corn hybrids with multiple-gene type of resistance to NCLB are also likely to be resistant to

And So It Grows

By GEORGE HAMRICK
You're invited to Dedication Day of the new Horticulture Garden, October 7. Open house viewing takes place from 2-4 p.m. at the garden, located immediately north of the Agricultural Administration Building (corner of Lane Avenue and Fyffe Road, Columbus). A brief ceremony will take place at 2:30 to recognize the many generous contributors to the garden. Faculty and students guides will be on hand to answer questions. So, take a couple of hours Sunday afternoon to see the many different shrubs, trees, and flowering plants that students (and others) are studying while on campus.

Horticulture specialists get a lot of questions about curing gourds.

Since gourds are used in making dippers, spoons, ladles, salt and sugar containers, birdhouses and, particularly, ornamental and decorative pieces, proper curing is important.

The thin-shelled or hard-drying gourds are the most durable and are the ones that most commonly serve as decorations. Thick-fleshed gourds are more in the nature of pumpkins and squashes and are almost as perishable.

Gather thin-shelled gourds at the time the shells begin to harden, the fruits become lighter in weight, and the tendrils on the vines near the gourds begin to shrivel and dry. For best results, give the gourds plenty of time to cure. Some kinds require six months or a year to cure.

All types of gourds should be handled carefully. Bruises discolor them and cause them to soften and decay.

If your gourds have not completed the curing process on the vine when you gather them, place them in a well-ventilated area to assure completion of the cure. Do not allow them to freeze, and inspect them often for soft or decaying ones.

Two TV Students Honored In Nation

Two students at Teays Valley High School have been named semifinalists in the 1974 National Merit Scholarship. The students are: Pamela Reichelderfer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reichelderfer, Amanda, and Karl N. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Snyder, Ashville.

Photography Workshop Planned

Plans for this year's yearbook staff includes a workshop in photography at the Christopher Inn, Columbus. The group, advised by Mrs. Bendycki, will attend the workshop Oct. 9.

The workshop will not only improve the photography techniques of the staff, it will also teach the editors and the photographers to coordinate their efforts.

Hopefully, the end result of the workshop will be a better yearbook.

The annual advertising campaign has been kicked off. Members of the yearbook staff will be soliciting for advertisements. Anyone interested in helping or wanting to use the school yearbook for advertisement is asked to contact the high school.

Students Attended Conference

Teays Valley High School was among more than 450 high schools in Ohio participating in the 8th annual Youth and Science conference, held at Merston Auditorium on The Ohio State University campus, Saturday, September 22.

Delegates attending from TVS were Rusty Williams and Nolan Hines.

The more than 1500 youths heard distinguished speakers discuss career opportunities centered around this year's Youth and Science conference theme, "Key to the Energy Crisis".

Sponsors of the conference were the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, The Ohio State University, and the Ohio Agricultural Council.

Graypes Perform At Homecoming

The senior and junior classes sponsored the annual homecoming dance following the football game Friday.

Music for the queen and her court was provided by the Graypes.

Admission fees of $1.50 per couple and $1 per single were charged.

FFA Rates In Soil Contest

On Sept. 27, the Teays Valley High School FFA (Future Farmers of America) sent four Sophomore students to represent them at the District 9 Soil Judging Contest in Clark County. There were twenty schools participating. Teays Valley tied for twelfth place.

The four students participating were Bobby Winter, James Kuhlwein, Benton Hedges, and Glen Hinkle. Mr. Noecker is very proud of these students.

There were four judging sites to determine texture, depth of top soil, water movement, sub soil limiting factors, water and crop management practices.

Blue And Gold Staff Visits The Herald

The Teays Valley newspaper staff took a field trip to the Circleville Herald on Sept. 26.

Steve Jones, editor of the Herald, showed the staff the way the local paper is put together and gave them information that will help improve their own school page.

The saxophone was invented by Antoine Joseph Sax, a Belgian.

Commercial Point News

Mrs. Beulah Duvall has returned home from vacationing with relatives and friends in North Carolina.

Del and Margaret Steele, were Sunday afternoon callers on Mr. and Mrs. Max Steele.

Mrs. Jim (Laura) Albright and Jimmy II have returned home after spending six weeks with her parents, Charles and Phyllis Juarez of Aiea, Hawaii. While there they attended the wedding of her sister Charlene to Mr. Stuart Brooks of Aiea.

Ruth Jones and Fern Carfrey, spent Tuesday with Mrs. June Steele.

Several ladies from this area joined with the Monrovia Garden Club on a tour, of Kingwood Center, in Mansfield. The day started out with lots of rain but cleared before the bus came. They enjoyed a sack lunch at noon with coffee furnished by the Center.

They toured the beautiful 47 acres of lovely flowers and woods. In the evening they had dinner at the Brown Derby.

Those who enjoyed the trip from this area were Betty Barr, Eva Keller, Vona Rasor, Ruby Smith, Margaret Finch, Emma McGhee and Evelyn Johnson. All reported a wonderful trip, and they arrived home around 9 p.m.

Lima Jury Finds Theater Film Obscene

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—An Allen County Common Pleas Court jury has convicted a downtown movie theater of showing obscene motion pictures.

Court observers said the decision was the first in Ohio since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled last June that communities should set their own standards.

The jury of five men and three women refused to comment publicly on what affronted them about the movies "Casting Couch" and "Flesh of the Lotus" shown at Cinema One on the Public Square.

Police said the film was confiscated in a raid last June. Last month, a county grand jury indicted Cinema One employees Robert Smith and Otis Hatfield, as well as the Delaware corporation Pursue Ltd., which owns the theater.

Judge Robert M. Light put off sentencing until Oct. 11. Smith and Hatfield are subject to a $5,000 fine and a year in jail.

Police said the films showed erotic scenes featuring men and women.

Authorities said the theater has been raided half a dozen times since June and that more charges are pending.

Defense attorney Ted Iorio of Toledo noted prior to the verdict that the decision would establish community standards, but those standards would be altered by every subsequent decision.

Great Potential

Unnoticed by many of their countrymen, the latest Skylab astronauts may have laid the groundwork for one of the greatest mineral hunts in history. Among their many assignments while spending 59 days in orbit was a geological survey of the planet's resources.

Alan Bean, Jack Lousma and Owen Garriott returned with photographs taken of 49 states and 35 countries which it is hoped will reveal previously undetected mineral deposits. Some of their earlier pictures, radioed back while the crew was at work in Skylab, already are being explored by geologists.

Solar cell experimnts and the clearest observation of the sun yet made have added to man's energy knowledge. Technology is not yet prepared to translate that knowledge into immediate results, but it might be within a few years.

Space travel has matured from the spectacular to the useful. The work is anything but ordinary, as the Skylab trio reaffirmed by overcoming numerous hazards to themselves and their assignments. The results of that work have extraordinary potentials for a world which is having increasing difficulty living within its confines of knowledge and space.

Incognito Bean

For a legume which is seldom recognized by urban dwellers, the soybean has a powerful impact on diets and commerce. It has become one of the United States' fastest growing exports, reaping a $900 million increase in exports for the first seven months this year.

Among the hundreds of uses for the soybean are the preparation of such common foods as hamburgers, baked beans, cheese and candy and such non-food items as linoleum, paint, cosmetics and plastics. The lowly soybean has become, almost anonymously, one of the fundamental building blocks of modern society.

Because it is so important to everyday life it deserves greater recognition. At least as much as steel, aluminum, oil and wheat.

Peripheral Urban Ethnic

By JEFFREY HART

In 1972, Arthur Finkelstein worked as director of demographics and election analysis for the Nixon campaign, and two years earlier he provided similar services for the successful New York Senatorial campaign of James Buckley. Finkelstein has also provided the clearest analysis yet of an emerging voting pattern which is certain to be central to American politics in the 1970s and beyond. His discussion of what he calls the Peripheral Urban Ethnic appeared recently in the small-circulation magazine Ideas.

Finkelstein views the major urban areas as being made up of target-like arrangements of concentric circles: inner-city, urban periphery, and outer suburb. Each of these three rings possesses a distinctive ethnic and social-class character, and a distinctive politics.

In the inner city, wealthy enclaves, usually WASPish, abut on lower socioeconomic groups, often Negro or Hispanic. In city after city, the rich and the poor are aligning to form what can be called the Lindsay constituency, a libera-to-radical coalition, with the whites running the show and the slums turning out the vote.

Some 30 or so miles out beyond this inner city, you hit the hedges and lawns of the affluent suburb, places like Great Neck, Long Island, or Darien, Conn., usually WASPish but also often Jewish. Here, again, liberalism flourishes, but instead of the tough Lindsay-machine sort, you get the greening-and-granola people and the world government types.

But in the ring between the inner city and the affluent suburb, in the "urban periphery," dwell Finkelstein's Peripheral Urban Ethnic.

"More than likely," writes Finkelstein, "he is a blue-collar worker but he could just as easily be a dentist of middle age. The truly important criteria in his placement in the shifting American electorate is his geographical proximity to a core grouping and the cultural ties he has with his community."

In a fascinating way, geographical circumstance in this pattern has begun transcend traditional ethnic voting differences. Jewish PUEs, for example, vote more like WASP Italian or Irish PUEs than like affluent Great Neck or Beverly Hills Jewish voters. In Philadelphia in 1970, 50 per cent of the Jewish vote went to Frank Rizzo in a Democratic primary that included a black and a white liberal.

The PUE also has a very clear view of his own interests and values. He is not a bigot, but he has an ethnic focus: "His children," notes Finkelstein, "play with the kid next door even if the kid is a little different, but he really wouldn't want to see his child marry one."

The PUE wants to preserve his turf, which means no low-income public housing in Forest Hills, thank you very much. The "social issue" (crime, drugs, permissiveness) is important. The family is sacred.

The PUE knows who his enemies are. When the media or Kenneth Keniston, the Yale psychologist talk about "youth" they don't have his children in mind. No one asked him whether he wanted to hear Simon and Garfunkel during Mass. No quotas at Harvard pave the way for his children. Archie Bunker is a big laugh on TV, but Amos'n' Andy are long gone. When HEW talks about "minorities" they don't mean him.

And if the inner city and the affluent suburb are moving left, the PUE is moving right, far to the right.

Business World Of The Past

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — As always in a depressed market, you can pick from a hundred theories why the market is likely to be a better investment in the next year. Most contain as much hope as reason.

The price-earnings argument is one that probably is made up of a preponderance of hope in that it assumes the existence of an automatic recoil feature to propel prices back up.

During this year, the prices of stocks that make up the Standard & Poor's 425 index have ranged between a high of 16.6 times and a low of 13.9 times earnings, ratios that are decidedly lower than the longterm trend.

These are the yearly highs and lows for the past five years:

1969.....	19.....	15.9
1970.....	19.....	14
1971.....	19.4.....	16.6
1972.....	19.5.....	16.5
1973.....	16.6.....	13.9

And so you have many theorists who hope their stock, now selling at 10 times earnings, will "adjust" itself to its "normal" p-e ratio of 15.

Those who would settle for less note that the average p-e of the Dow Jones Industrial Average now is 12 and hope it will recoil to the 16 it was at this time a year ago.

A more recently developed theory is that the institutions are beginning to shake loose from their favored few stocks and soon will become more active traders, spreading the wealth. Again, lots of hope is involved.

Many of these institutions—bank trust departments, insurance companies, pension and mutual funds—have concentrated billions of dollars in relatively few stocks, certainly fewer than 75.

These stocks enjoyed relatively high p-e ratios, some of them double the average for the entire market. But now the faith of institutions has been shaken a bit.

The one big factor was a court decision that could cost International Business Machines more than $350 million in fines because of alleged monopoly tactics. IBM is appealing.

Big as it is, the fine isn't what worries the institutions as much as the attitude taken by the court. Fears exist that other companies favored by the institutions might be hit with antitrust suits.

Honduras is the only Central American country that is mountainous but has no volcanoes.

El Salvador, smallest Central American Republic, is also one of the most prosperous and best developed.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

One of the problems associated with the long use of cortisone for certain types of arthritis is the absorption of calcium from the bones. Sometimes these problems may be far worse than the original condition for which the drug is used.

Dr. David R. Leonard and Dr. Theodore J. Hahn, of the Washington University School of Medicine and the Jewish Hospital of St. Louis, have been using Vitamin-D in an effort to correct the absorption of calcium from the bones and thereby reducing possible disadvantages of long, uninterrupted cortisone treatment.

The study of Vitamin-D in relationship to this problem is still in experimental phases. If eventually it is proved successful, it may be carried over into other illnesses associated with the absorption of calcium from the bones. This may be a significant contribution in preventing the fractures that result in brittle bones made weaker by the lack of calcium in them.

The science of biofeedback is extending into many areas of medicine.

At Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, a group of patients who are unable to control their bowel movements have been studied by biofeedback.

Dr. Parviz Nikoomeh has found that these patients have a marked relaxation of the muscle, or sphincter, that prevents uncontrolled emptying of the bowel.

One spectacular case was that of a 6-year-old child who had no control over her bowel movements. With special biofeedback teaching, she was able to develop complete control within a few months.

Biofeedback is a remarkable phenomenon by which involuntary and reflex actions can come under voluntary control.

Expansive studies in psychological laboratories are revealing more and more evidence of the contribution that biofeedback will eventually make to health.

The total reconstruction of the face for severe injuries and for birth defects is now being performed with remarkable success.

People destined to live lives of isolation because of malformation are now given their rightful chance to live in this complex society.

Dr. John M. Converse of the Institute for Reconstructive Plastic Surgery in New York City, Dr. Ian R. Munro of the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, and Dr. Paul Tessier in Paris are performing revolutionary types of surgery by which all parts of the face and the skull can be repositioned.

This dramatic advance in reconstructive surgery is of enormous significance.

Women rarely worry about marrying a man smarter than them, because they always feel that if they can't outwit a man they can always outmaneuver him by superior cunning. That's why a wife continues to try to remold her husband nearer to her own wishes. From birth she thinks of man as a form of workable putty.

More men would achieve success in this world, and enjoy life more, if they wore shoes one half size bigger. Tight shoes will cramp anybody's life style, as well as sour his personality.

An optimist is a man in middle age with a chronic disease who believes the onward march of medicine will find a cure for it in his lifetime.

The quickest way to win a reputation as a bore is to insist on performing card tricks at cocktail parties.

It is no testimony to your popularity to be invited to spend a weekend at someone's country place. People who own country places would rather invite Jack the Ripper for company than face a weekend alone with themselves.

One reason civilization is such a monumental failure today is that it no longer inspires man to test himself to the utmost to see what he can do. Instead, it inspires him chiefly to escape blame for whatever happens. He would rather keep his nose clean than save his soul.

The most overrated food in America is steak, partly because of its current high price. But a really first-rate steak is, and always has been, a rarity. The ordinary diner can always get more real enjoyment of a well-cooked tasty pot roast or even meatloaf than a run-of-the-shop steak. A steak, even at a top restaurant, is always a gamble. There are fewer things duller than a steak diet, and if a dictator made the eating of steak mandatory at every meal, he would be overthrown by a revolution within three months. It would be the same, of course, if it were caviar that was decreed, but the revolution would start four months sooner.

The most overrated food in America is steak, partly because of its current high price. But a really first-rate steak is, and always has been, a rarity. The ordinary diner can always get more real enjoyment of a well-cooked tasty pot roast or even meatloaf than a run-of-the-shop steak. A steak, even at a top restaurant, is always a gamble. There are fewer things duller than a steak diet, and if a dictator made the eating of steak mandatory at every meal, he would be overthrown by a revolution qithin three months. It would be the same, of course, if it were caviar that was decreed, but the revolution would start four months sooner.

Low-Cost Divorces Available

DETROIT (AP) — A man whose wife left him in 1933 was among the first persons to take advantage of the new low-cost, no-fault divorce service now available in Detroit.

John Lama, executive director of the Detroit Bar Association, said another man and his wife, separated 22 years, read about the divorce service, got in touch with each other and decided, "Let's get divorced."

Lama said under the new plan, persons who qualify pay less than $200 for divorce services which previously cost about $400.

The low-cost, no-fault divorce program is the first of its kind in the country, according to Anthony Buesser, DBA bench and bar committee chairman.

It involves about 700 lawyers in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties and was instituted at the urging of Wayne County Circuit Court judges.

To be eligible for the divorce service, couples must be childless; own no property other than furniture, cars and personal belongings and agree as to how to divide it, seek no alimony and have a combined annual income of less than $8,500.

Consent of both the husband and wife or a long absence by either one also is required.

See Small Increase In ADC Enrollment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Welfare Department this month recorded the smallest September increase in requests for aid to dependent children in four years, director Charles W. Bates said Friday.

Bates said last month's increase of 1,989 marked the slowest September since 1969.

High School Day Planned At Otterbein

The annual high-school day at Otterbein College is scheduled for Oct. 27. Interested high school juniors and seniors are invited to spend the day at the campus open house.

Activities planned for the day include information sessions on student activities, off-campus study programs, curriculum, and intercollegiate and intramural sports.

Parents are urged to accompany students and attend a special parent's meeting to be held at 9:30 a.m. in the Barlow Lecture Hall. The meeting will revolve around a panel discussion of "Financing an Education in the Private Four-Year College".

After the parent's meeting students and parents will reunite for an assembly meeting followed by lunch and free time to explore the campus.

To encourage interest in Otterbein College, the board of trustees has decided to drop the admissions fee. Otterbein is probably the first college in Ohio to do this. The admissions office is now accepting admission credentials from potential students for the 1974-75 academic year.

Many times a student is hampered from applying at colleges because of the application fee ranging from $15 to $25. Admissions director Michael Kish says he hopes the new policy will encourage more young people to attempt college.

Students who would like to participate in Otterbein's High School Day or need more information on admission should call the Office of Admissions at 891-3325.

News Of Interest To Women

The Circleville Herald, Saturday October 6, 1973

MRS. BRENT BOGGS LISTON

Miss Penny Sue Arledge Weds Brent Boggs Liston

Wedding vows were exchanged by Penny Sue Arledge and Mr. Brent Boggs Liston 7:30 p.m. Aug. 18th in Trinity Lutheran Church of Circleville.

The Rev. Carl G. Zehner performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Arledge, 364 E. Union St., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Robert Liston, Route 3, Circleville.

Arrangements of lavender asters, white daisy pompons and pink sweetheart roses were at the guest book and on the piano. The altar held candelabra and arrangements of white gladioli and pink sweetheart roses. White satin bows, greenery and baby's breath marked the pews.

A musical program preceded the ceremony by Mrs. Thomas Downing, organist and Miss Anne Ferrell, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding day she selected a formal length gown of white silk organza. The bodice featured a wedding band collar, full sheer Dresden sleeves with cuffs of Venice lace. The empire waist held an A-line skirt that swept back into a sheer chapel length train. The front of the gown was accented by a panel of organza ticking and tiny covered buttons. Venice lace outlined the panel and encircled the hemline.

A Juliet cap of Venice lace held the chapel length veil of illusion outlined in Venice lace matching that of the gown. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of pink sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath accented with satin picot ribbon atop a prayer book, a gift from the bride's aunt and uncle.

Mrs. Kelton Barthelmas of Circleville, served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of lavender chiffon with long full sleeves. The empire bodice was accented by a garland of tiny purple and white roses. She carried a bouquet of pink miniature carnations, white daisy pompons and lavender asters with white satin picot streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Becky Liston, sister of the bridegroom, Miss

Jedell Ayers and Miss Cindy Rihl. Their gowns were identical to that of the honor attendant and they carried bouquets of pink miniature carnations and white daisy pompons and baby's breath with satin picot streamers.

Flower girls were Miss Kristina Moats and Miss Beth Ann Adkins. Master Jeffrey Moats, nephew of the bride, carried the rings to the altar.

Mr. Bruce Liston performed the duties of best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Greg White, Mr. Jack White, Mr. Ben Horn and Mr. Gary Bowers, with Mr. Kelton Barthelmas, Mr. Leo Moats and Mr. Randy Dresbach as groomsmen.

The bride's mother was attired in a floor length gown of sky blue silk shantung with long full chiffon sleeves. Her gown was topped by a full length sleeveless coat of matching fabric outlined in blue scroll. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Liston's floor length gown was of chiffon with a floral pattern of rose, yellow, blue and olive green on a beige background with a ruffle of the same material on the V-neckline and long sleeves. The long A-line skirt was belted with olive green velvet ribbon. Her corsage was a yellow cymbidium orchid.

Lavender illusion net overlay was on the white cloth covering of the Bride's table for the reception held in the Parish House. Arrangements of miniature pink carnations, lavender asters and white daisy pompons decorated the room. Silver candelabra surrounded by flowers flanked a four tiered wedding cake decorated with lavender and pink roses and topped with bride and groom figurines.

Songs sung at the reception included, "Sunrise, Sunset" and "We've Only Just Begun." Preceding the wedding songs were "Together Forever," prayer from "Fiddler On The Roof," "Wedding Song" and "There Is Love." During the ceremony "The Lord's Prayer" was sung.

Reception hostesses were, Mrs. Bruce Liston, Mrs. Gary Bowers, Mrs.

Mrs. Talmer Wise Hosts Dorcas Class

Bibles were discussed during the recent meeting of Dorcas Class of Calvary United Methodist Church in the home of Mrs. Talmer Wise, 146 E. Franklin St.

Following the noon luncheon, devotions were by Annette Lape. She used Corinthians from both the King James version of the Bible and the Living Bible paraphrased. Members discussed the likes and dislikes of the new printing with most agreeing they preferred the old version.

The membership list was updated putting those who do not attend church or the meetings on an inactive list. A committee was appointed to keep in contact with those persons.

Mrs. Wise, president, thanked all who assisted with the Rally Day program. She urged church attendance for the Sunday service of Communion in connection with the Nationwide service.

Plans for the next two months were discussed. Annette Lape and Ruth Waple were appointed on the nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers. Some members plan to join Senior Citizens for a visit on Friday to Pickaway Manor.

Evelyn Carter and Louise Kennedy were welcomed at the first meeting they had attended following lengthy illnesses.

The next meeting will be 1 p.m. Nov. 7th in the home of Erma Iles, 350 Logan St.

ARMSTRONG INTRODUCES GRAND NOBLE™

So exotically beautiful, it could make you believe in magic carpets again.

If you don't believe in magic, walk around Grand Noble in your bare feet.
You'll feel magically sculptured, soft pile deep enough to wriggle your toes down into.
You'll be amazed at the magical tricks the silky, soft fibers play with light and shadow. Like the finest velvets, Grand Noble carpets alternately absorb the light or reflect it... depending on where you happen to be standing. The color subtly appears to change its value as you walk from one end to the other. So every step becomes an adventure... a kaleidoscopic journey you'll never grow tired of.

Grand Noble is made of dense, heavy pile specially chosen for durability and stain resistance. And Grand Noble has its own thick foam cushioning on the back for comfort and quiet underfoot.
You can also have Grand Noble as a room-size rug or an accent rug with luscious, thick fringe.

Grand Noble carpets and rugs—for people who want a little realistic magic in their lives.

News Of Interest To Women

The Circleville Herald, Saturday October 6, 1973

MRS. BRENT BOGGS LISTON

Miss Penny Sue Arledge Weds Brent Boggs Liston

Wedding vows were exchanged by Penny Sue Arledge and Mr. Brent Boggs Liston 7:30 p.m. Aug. 18th in Trinity Lutheran Church of Circleville.

The Rev. Carl G. Zehner performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Arledge, 364 E. Union St., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Robert Liston, Route 3, Circleville.

Arrangements of lavender asters, white daisy pompons and pink sweetheart roses were at the guest book and on the piano. The altar held candelabra and arrangements of white gladioli and pink sweetheart roses. White satin bows, greenery and baby's breath marked the pews.

A musical program preceded the ceremony by Mrs. Thomas Downing, organist and Miss Anne Ferrell, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding day she selected a formal length gown of white silk organza. The bodice featured a wedding band collar, full sheer Dresden sleeves with cuffs of Venice lace. The empire waist held an A-line skirt that swept back into a sheer chapel length train. The front of the gown was accented by a panel of organza ticking and tiny covered buttons. Venice lace outlined the panel and encircled the hemline.

A Juliet cap of Venice lace held the chapel length veil of illusion outlined in Venice lace matching that of the gown. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of pink sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath accented with satin picot ribbon atop a prayer book, a gift from the bride's aunt and uncle.

Mrs. Kelton Barthelmas of Circleville, served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of lavender chiffon with long full sleeves. The empire bodice was accented by a garland of tiny purple and white roses. She carried a bouquet of pink miniature carnations, white daisy pompons and lavender asters with white satin picot streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Becky Liston, sister of the bridegroom, Miss

Jodel Ayers and Miss Cindy Rihl. Their gowns were identical to that of the honor attendant and they carried bouquets of pink miniature carnations and white daisy pompons and baby's breath with satin picot streamers.

Flower girls were Miss Kristina Moats and Miss Beth Ann Adkins. Master Jeffrey Moats, nephew of the bride, carried the rings to the altar.

Mr. Bruce Liston performed the duties of best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Greg White, Mr. Jack White, Mr. Ben Horn and Mr. Gary Bowers, with Mr. Kelton Barthelmas, Mr. Leo Moats and Mr. Randy Dresbach as groomsmen.

The bride's mother was attired in a floor length gown of sky blue silk shantung with long full chiffon sleeves. Her gown was topped by a full length sleeveless coat of matching fabric outlined in blue scroll. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Liston's floor length gown was of chiffon with a floral pattern of rose, yellow, blue and olive green on a beige background with a ruffle of the same material on the V-neckline and long sleeves. The long A-line skirt was belted with olive green velvet ribbon. Her corsage was a yellow cymbidium orchid.

Lavender illusion net overlay was on the white cloth covering of the Bride's table for the reception held in the Parish House. Arrangements of miniature pink carnations, lavender asters and white daisy pompons decorated the room. Silver candelabra surrounded by flowers flanked a four tiered wedding cake decorated with lavender and pink roses and topped with bride and groom figurines.

Songs sung at the reception included, "Sunrise, Sunset" and "We've Only Just Begun." Preceding the wedding songs were "Together Forever," prayer from "Fiddler On The Roof," "Wedding Song" and "There Is Love." During the ceremony "The Lord's Prayer" was sung.

Reception hostesses were, Mrs. Bruce Liston, Mrs. Gary Bowers, Mrs.

Mrs. Talmer Wise Hosts Dorcas Class

Bibles were discussed during the recent meeting of Dorcas Class of Calvary United Methodist Church in the home of Mrs. Talmer Wise, 146 E. Franklin St.

Following the noon luncheon, devotions were by Annette Lape. She used Corinthians from both the King James version of the Bible and the Living Bible paraphrased. Members discussed the likes and dislikes of the new printing with most agreeing they preferred the old version.

The membership list was updated putting those who do not attend church or the meetings on an inactive list. A committee was appointed to keep in contact with those persons.

Mrs. Wise, president, thanked all who assisted with the Rally Day program. She urged church attendance for the Sunday service of Communion in connection with the Nationwide service.

Plans for the next two months were discussed. Annette Lape and Ruth Waple were appointed on the nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers. Some members plan to join Senior Citizens for a visit on Friday to Pickaway Manor.

Evelyn Carter and Louise Kennedy were welcomed at the first meeting they had attended following lengthy illnesses.

The next meeting will be 1 p.m. Nov. 7th in the home of Erna Iles, 350 Logan St.

Overweight Family Loses 130 Pounds in 11 Weeks

Praises Conway Diet Institute

Pictured above are Louis and Mary Moore and their four children, enjoying one of the many appetizing, slenderizing meals on the Conway 1,000-Calorie Diet.

"We found losing weight on the Conway Diet to be easier and more fun than we ever imagined. Thank goodness, there was no fish requirement. And the weekly Motivation Seminars were a real help," says Mrs. Moore.

The individual weight losses in eleven weeks were: Louis 35 pounds, Mary 31 pounds, daughter Emily 20 pounds, son Louis, Jr. 18 pounds, son Mark 12 pounds, and daughter Mary 14 pounds.

MIAMI (AP) — A Miami widow says she would rather see her husband's killer jailed than placed on partial probation and made to work and support her and her five children.

"As far as saying, 'Yes, let my husband's killer go free, I cannot do it. Money cannot take his place,'" Naomi Smith said Friday.

Mrs. Smith said she would not be able to bear the emotional strain and constant reminder of getting weekly support payments from Larry Darnell Clark, 19. Clark pleaded guilty to the second-degree murder of Mrs. Smith's husband, Rudolph, 36.

Dade County Criminal Judge Dan Satin said on Thursday he was considering letting Clark out of jail during the day to work to support the family of the man he killed.

"I'm not angry with the judge for what he is debating, but I don't think he got the full picture," said Mrs. Smith, a $60-a-week cook.

"There has to be some justice; otherwise you can go out and say I'll kill him and pay for it," Mrs. Smith said.

"My husband didn't have a chance. There was no lawyer there to say he is a nice guy, he should not be punished," she said.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Too Much Kissing

DEAR ABBY: My lady friend is a kissing fool. Hugging and kissing is her idea of the utmost in ecstasy, and she can't seem to get enough of it.

Last night we sat on her sofa kissing from midnight until 2 a.m., and I hardly managed to get my own lips together once in those two hours. If my nose had been stopped up, I would have suffocated. All this time she was glued to my face, wearing me out.

I tried to explain that a normal man enjoys about five minutes of kissing, but I never got to finish the sentence.

It's not as if we are a pair of starry-eyed teen-agers, either. We are up in years.

Is there such a thing as a lip fetish? If so, this lady has a serious case. She doesn't need a man. Give her a pair of rubber lips nailed to a post and she would be in business.

Do you think she needs psychiatric help to cool her down? Or should I seek some myself for continuing to put up with her?

DONE IN

DEAR DONE: If you want to cool her down, marry her.

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of giving an unwed mother a baby shower? The girl is only 15, and the baby's father is 16. She is five months along, and her girl friends are giving her a shower. Maybe by the time the baby is born she will be married to the baby's father, but right now his folks have refused to sign, and he can't get married without their signatures, as he is under age.

I bought a gift with money I saved up from baby-sitting. My mother says I can go if I want to, but it would be like saying I saw nothing wrong with what this girl did. Abby, I think she did a wrong thing, but she is my friend and I can't turn my back on her now.

Some of the girls' mothers told their daughters they should send their gifts, but not go. How do you feel about this?

ALSO 15

DEAR ALSO: Being loyal to a friend doesn't necessarily imply approval of everything that friend does. Your peer group is showing more charity and compassion for an unmarried expectant mother than earlier generations would have shown, which I think is to your credit.

DEAR ABBY: For the last six months my husband faithfully has gotten up at 1 a.m. every Saturday morning to go Eastern Shore fishing.

I never paid much attention to it until recently when I noticed that when he came home he was wearing his best shoes, best pants, and brand new shirt.

When I asked him about it, he said he had to look decent in case he wanted to stop in a restaurant for coffee and a sandwich. Abby, I would like your reaction to his explanation.

SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: His story sounds fishy to me. Fishing clothes are considered "decent" in fishing territory. But on the other hand, if he had something to hide he could easily change back into his fishing clothes before returning home. (P.S. How much fish does he bring home? If it's usually not much of a catch, you may catch him.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO F.J.L.: Take heart in the words of Madame Swet-chine: "In order to have an enemy, one must be somebody. One must be a force before he can be resisted by another force. A malicious enemy is better than a clumsy friend."

Tigers Claws Clipped By Hurricane, 23-20

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Six costly fumbles by the Tigers and a 25-yard field goal by the Hurricane's Dave Hamilton, with 11 seconds left in the contest, was the undoing of Circleville as the Red and Black dropped a 23-20 decision to Wilmington Friday night on the winners turf.

Wilmington took advantage of the Tiger miscues with the pigskin with four recoveries—Three of them coming in the disastrous third period when the Hurricane quickly converted two of them into touchdowns.

Circleville broke out in front early in the first quarter on a 53-yard punt return by Rick Sampsill and it appeared that the long drought at Wilmington was about to come to an end.

But fate suddenly frowned on the lads from Roundtown and the second and third periods became fair game for Wilmington.

Jackie Watson put the Hurricane on the board in the second period on a three-yard run. Kip Collins rambled into paydirt on runs of one and two yards in the third stanza.

Suddenly the Tigers decided to get back in the game. Perry Hoskins rammed into paydirt on a one-yard sneak and Doug Palm tallied the final touchdown on a 34-yard pass from Rick Sampsill who had taken a pitch out from Hoskins to knot the count at 20-20 with 59 seconds left in the fray.

But Hamilton's field goal was the clincher that sealed the doom of the Tigers.

"I'm proud of the way our kids bounced back in the fourth quarter to come from behind and tie the game up," Circleville coach Larry Cook stated. "We made too many mistakes in the second and third quarter when we had a total mental lapse, both offensively and defensively."

"Losing Rock Davis with an injury on the opening kickoff hurt us as he is a key man in our offensive and defensive alignment," Cook said.

"Mistakes have killed us this year but we can be a fine team if we just eliminate these mental lapses. We have our backs to the wall but are

Reds Face Mets Today

CINCINNATI (AP) — Rusty Staub, playing on a winner for the first time in his 13-year pro career, scoffed at mention of a mismatch as the New York Mets set out to dethrone the defending National League champion Cincinnati Reds today.

"The Reds don't have a lock on this thing. Anyone who thinks they do is in for a surprise," said the red-haired Mets outfielder.

Manager Yogi Berra echoed Staub's sentiments.

"We ain't gonna roll over and play dead," said Berra on the eve of the National League Championship Series.

"Both teams start from scratch from here," said Berra.

The Mets, winners of the Eastern Division with a mediocre 82-79 record, sent ace righthander Tom Seaver against Cincinnati's Jack Billingham in a matchup of two 19-game winners.

Billingham, who missed Friday's workout due to a minor virus, led the league in shutouts with seven and had a 2-0 record against the Mets.

Seaver, a three-time 20-game winner for the Mets, has not beaten the Reds since June of 1972. He has only eight lifetime victories against the Reds in 20 decisions.

But his 135 victories in seven seasons lead the major leagues.

"He's the best pitcher in baseball," said an admiring George "Sparky" Anderson, manager of the Reds.

"Billingham has been our most consistent pitcher this year. That's why I wanted to match him with Seaver," said Anderson, whose Reds rode the wave of a sensational last-half winning streak to claim a third Western Division title in four years.

Southern Cal, Oregon State Vie

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Last week's 7-7 tie with Oklahoma may have dropped Southern California's defending national champions from the top of the Associated Press rankings, but Coach John McKay calls today's meeting with Oregon State "our most important game of the year."

And not just because it represents the start of the Trojans' planned climb from fourth place back to No. 1.

"It marks the opening of the Pac-8 season," McKay says. "Our first goal is always to represent the conference in the Rose Bowl, and therefore this is a 'must' game for us."

Despite last weekend's deadlock, Southern Cal is unbeaten in 20 games. Winless Oregon State has dropped all three 1973 starts—to Auburn, Southern Methodist and Brigham Young.

The only matchups between members of the Top Twenty find Miami of Florida, ranked 17th, at sixth-ranked Oklahoma and No. 15 Missouri at No. 19 Southern Methodist.

Ohio State, the team that replaced Southern Cal as No. 1, puts its new standing on the line at home against Washington State, runnerup Nebraska

LE Booster Meeting Scheduled Monday

The second meeting of the Logan Elm Booster Club will be held Monday at the high school at 7:30 p.m. Preparations will be made at this meeting for the Pumpkin Show.

Volleyball games are planned after the meeting. Those wishing to participate are requested to bring tennis shoes.

FOLLOW THE LEADER—Tom England 72 leads the way for Joe Smith 23 as the pair of Tigers seem to be all alone on the Wilmington gridiron. A field goal by the Hurricane in the closing second of the contest sent the Tigers down to defeat in a South Central Ohio League clash.

In the statistic department, Circleville had nine first downs to Wilmington's 13. The Tigers rushed for 77 yards while the Hurricane piled up 210.

Circleville completed eight of 16 passes for 151 yards and Wilmington hit three of 10 for 56 yards.

The Tigers drew four penalties for 28 yards while the officials marched against Wilmington nine times for 100 yards.

Fumbles were the key to the game with Circleville committing six and losing the ball four times. Wilmington misplayed the ball three times and the Tigers fell on it twice.

It was a Jekyll and Hyde performance by the Tigers in the contest.

They dominated the first period to take a 7-0 lead, played mistake-filled football in the second and third periods to fall behind 20-7 and came roaring back in the final stanza with a pair of touchdowns to knot the count at 20-20—Only to lose in the closing seconds on a field goal.

Wilmington failed to move on its first series and was forced to punt. Sampsill gathered the ball in on his own 47, set sail down the right sideline, broke into the open behind a tremendous block by Reggie Radcliff and raced into paydirt. Phil Roll sent the ball through the uprights for the conversion with 9:29 left.

Giants To Face Packers Sunday

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants raise the curtain in the Yale Bowl against the Green Bay Packers Sunday...and hope they don't bomb in New Haven.

While a new outdoor arena for the Giants is being built in New Jersey, they'll be staging the remainder of this National Football League season and all of next in the Bowl's Theater-In-The-Round.

Taking the act out of town could be beneficial—the Giants have been playing awkward football after an undefeated tryout season.

After a victory over Houston in the opener, the Giants struggled to tie the supposedly weaker Philadelphia Eagles in their longtime home, Yankee Stadium, and had a lost weekend in Cleveland.

The 1-1 record hardly deserves rave notices and has left the Giants fourth in the National Conference's Eastern Division.

The Packers, meanwhile, have a cast of brilliant defenders who have allowed a conference low of 31 points enroute to a 1-1 mark. That's good for a second-place tie in the Central race.

The leaders in the NFC's Eastern Division, the undefeated Dallas Cowboys (3-0), play the Washington Redskins (2-1) in a significant Monday night game.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who are tied with the Redskins for second place in the NFC East, host the Oakland Raiders of the American Conference's Western Division.

In other football games Sunday, it's Baltimore at New England, Cincinnati at Cleveland, Denver at Kansas City, the New York Jets at Miami, San Diego at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at Houston, Philadelphia at Buffalo, Chicago at New Orleans, Minnesota at Detroit and San Francisco at Atlanta.

Dallas and Washington meet in a power struggle of the two acknowledged best teams in the NFC East. The Redskins are favored, but not by much, in what amounts to a pick-'em game.

cleville 13. Collins picked up four yards to the nine and with 0:11 seconds on the clock Hamilton sent the ball through the uprights from the 15-yard marker and it was all over for the night.

Circleville is now 2-3 for the season and 1-1 in league play. The Tigers will be at Miami Trace Friday in another SCOL encounter.

Zane Trace Loses To Paint Valley

Zane Trace lost to Paint Valley 18-0 Friday in the Scioto Valley Conference.

The Bearcats scored touchdowns in the first, third and fourth periods. They had 14 first downs compared to seven for Zane Trace, gained 124 yards on the ground and 148 through the air.

Zane Trace had 72 yards on the ground, with Steve Rinehart accounting for 64 of them on 27 carries. They completed one pass for five yards.

The Pioneers have a 1-4 season record and Paint Valley is 2-3.

Betting, Attendance Marks For Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — New betting and attendance records were set during Latonia's 27-day fall meeting, which ended Friday.

Some 126,111 patrons bet $11,860,879 during the meeting, a track spokesman said. That averaged $439,292 per day, and was 10 per cent more than was wagered during the 1972 fall meeting. Attendance increased 2.5 per cent.

Cleveland Browns Lose Pete Adams

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns rookie Pete Adams will be out of action the rest of the year, a Browns spokesman says.

The guard from Southern California is to undergo surgery Tuesday to repair the cartilage in his left knee, injured in preseason play at Knoxville, Tenn., the Browns said Friday.

Tigers Claws Clipped By Hurricane, 23-20

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Six costly fumbles by the Tigers and a 25-yard field goal by the Hurricane's Dave Hamilton, with 11 seconds left in the contest, was the undoing of Circleville as the Red and Black dropped a 23-20 decision to Wilmington Friday night on the winners turf.

Wilmington took advantage of the Tiger miscues with the pigskin with four recoveries—Three of them coming in the disastrous third period when the Hurricane quickly converted two of them into touchdowns.

Circleville broke out in front early in the first quarter on a 53-yard punt return by Rick Sampsill and it appeared that the long drought at Wilmington was about to come to an end.

But fate suddenly frowned on the lads from Roundtown and the second and third periods became fair game for Wilmington.

Jackie Watson put the Hurricane on the board in the second period on a three-yard run. Kip Collins rambled into paydirt on runs of one and two yards in the third stanza.

The Hurricane began to get up a head of steam in the second quarter and started a drive from its own 31. Thirteen plays later Jackie Watson smashed over from the three-yard line with 4:48 left on the clock. Eddy Richter and Perry Hoskins combined to stop Watson on the conversion attempt and the Tigers held a 7-6 margin at the halftime break.

On the third play of the third period Circleville fumbled and the Hurricane pounced on the ball on the Tiger 38. Wilmington moved to the Tiger one-foot line in eight plays where Kip Collins slammed into the endzone with 5:46 remaining. The conversion pass was blocked and the Hurricane led 12-7.

Circleville fumbled the kickoff after a fine run back and once again it belonged to the Hurricane.

But the Tiger defenders were up to the task and Wilmington was forced to punt. The ball bounced out of the Red and Black punt receiver's hands and the Hurricane had it on the two. Collins crashed over on the first play and Watson added a two-point conversion to make it 20-7 with 3:44 left in the third frame.

From all appearances it was all over but the shouting. But the Tigers suddenly decided to get back in the game and make things happen.

With 10:01 remaining in the final period, Circleville took over on its own 19. Hoskins connected with Richter on two aerials and hit John Ankrom with a bomb that carried to the Wilmington one-foot line. Hoskins went over on the next play. Roll added the conversion and it was 20-14 with 8:51 left.

The Tigers regained possession with 2:20 still showing on the clock. Starting from their own one-yard line the Tigers began to go on the prowl. Hoskins connected with Richter and hit Sampsill twice to move to the Wilmington 34.

Then came the play of the night—Hoskins pitched out to Sampsill on the right, Sampsill set himself and lofted the ball downfield into the waiting arms of Doug Palm who gathered it in on the 10 and waltzed over unmolested. Roll's kick was blocked and it was 20-20 with 59 seconds to play.

Circleville's onside kick attempt squirted out of bounds and the Hurricane had the ball at midfield.

A pass from John Groves to Chuck Peterson moved the ball to the Circleville 13. Collins picked up four yards to the nine and with 0:11 seconds on the clock Hamilton sent the ball through the uprights from the 15-yard marker and it was all over for the night.

Circleville is now 2-3 for the season and 1-1 in league play. The Tigers will be at Miami Trace Friday in another SCOL encounter.

Zane Trace Loses To Paint Valley

Zane Trace lost to Paint Valley 18-0 Friday in the Scioto Valley Conference.

The Bearcats scored touchdowns in the first, third and fourth periods. They had 14 first downs compared to seven for Zane Trace, gained 124 yards on the ground and 148 through the air.

Zane Trace had 72 yards on the ground, with Steve Rinehart accounting for 64 of them on 27 carries. They completed one pass for five yards.

The Pioneers have a 1-4 season record and Paint Valley is 2-3.

Teays Valley Blanks Marysville

Teays Valley shutout Marysville Monarchs 16-0 to boost their record to 3-0 in the Metropolitan League and 4-1 overall Friday. It was homecoming at Teays Valley.

The Viking offense rolled for 330 yards while the defense held the visitors to 101. Teays Valley had 13 first downs and Marysville settled for five.

All of the scoring in the game came in the second quarter. The Vikings had started a drive at midfield near the end of the first period.

Nicklaus, Greene Tie In KI Open

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP) — Putting was the name of the game Friday for Jack Nicklaus and Bert Greene, co-leaders in the rain-plagued $125,000 Ohio Kings Island Open golf tournament.

"The greens had a lot of spike marks in the afternoon. Maybe that was good for me. The marks threw my putts back on line toward the hole," joked Greene, who matched Nicklaus' three-under-par 68 start.

Greene had nine one-putters in his 28-putt round. Nicklaus was nearly as sharp on the soggy Nicklaus Golf Center greens, ramming in seven one-putters and taking 29 putts.

Both leaders benefited from Thursday's washout. Greene was one over par after seven holes. Nicklaus had an embarrassing 75, one of his worst rounds of 1973.

"I knew it was going to get rained out," the Golden Bear quipped, "so I didn't care what I shot."

It was a remarkable turnaround for Nicklaus, who can take over the money-winning lead from idle Bruce Crampton with a victory here, worth $25,000.

Instead of being seven shots behind Don Bies, the leader Thursday, he was sharing the top spot in quest of a 50th career tour victory. Bies had 71 this time.

Padres Move Is Delayed For 30 Days

CINCINNATI (AP) — There will probably be another 30-day delay before a determination is made on whether to keep the San Diego Padres baseball club in the West Coast city or transfer them to Washington, D.C.

The National League club owners, after a 4½-hour meeting Friday, decided to give Padres' owner C. Arnholt Smith more time, not to exceed 30 days, "to consider the possibility of further capital investment in the club and the negotiations of improved operating conditions to permit the franchise to remain in San Diego."

If Smith can't make arrangements, the owners' resolution says, there will be another meeting "to consider the application for the transfer of the franchise to Washington."

The owners' decision to delay did not sit well with Joseph Danzansky, the Washington supermarket president who, along with two others, conditionally purchased the Padres from Smith last May for $12 million.

The condition was the approval of the owners of the sale and the transfer to the nation's capital which has been without major league baseball since Bob Short moved the Senators to Texas two years ago.

Whittle Down Size Of Olympic Games

VARNA, Bulgaria (AP) — Ignoring the pleas of sports federations, the International Olympic Committee has taken the first firm step toward whittling down the size of the snow-balling Olympic Games.

After 1976 there will be no walking in the Olympics. The 50-kilometer walk, a traditional feature of the track and field program since 1932, was lopped off the Olympic calendar as was the 20-kilometer walk.

Other events were also chopped from the Olympic program—three in swimming, all four canoe slalom races and one event each from cycling and shooting.

Dan Ramey Leads Braves To Homecoming Victory

Powered by fullback Dan Ramey the Logan Elm Braves beat Mid State foe Pickerington 20-12 Friday to make their homecoming a happy one.

Ramey gained 125 yards rushing much of it coming on great second effort, and scored two touchdowns on runs of three and 20 yards. The Braves other TD was a five yard end run by halfback Terry Crumley.

Wes King booted two extra points for the Braves. Pickerington scored on runs of two and 25 yards by quarterback Fred Campbell. Both their conversion attempts failed.

Logan Elm now has a record of two wins and two losses in the Mid State League and is 2-3 overall. Pickerington is winless in five starts and is 0-4 in the conference.

Ramey's total could well be a Logan Elm record although coach Bob Stant was uncertain what the single game rushing record is. It was the second week the bruising fullback has gained over 100 yards. Last week the LE statisticians credited him with 106

Quarterback Steve Sargent was on target six of 12 passes for 106 yards. Sophomore halfback Steve Rawlins caught two for 36 yards, split end Brad Luckhart caught two for 24 yards, split end Phil Manson caught one for 42 yards and tight end Jeff Reichelderfer caught one for four yards.

In rushing totals, Wayne Linthicum gained 41, Crumley 25, Rawlins 21 and Sargent five.

Pickerington's first touchdown was set up by a recovered fumble at the LE 22 yard line. The game was only five minutes old when Campbell crossed the goal from the two.

Crumley ran the ensuing kickoff back 26 yards to the LE 46-yard line to give the Braves good field position for their first touchdown drive.

A pass from Sargent and a spectacular catch by Manson moved the ball to the 18. The ball was right on target but was tipped by a Tiger defender. The LE split end gave it that extra effort and just managed to grab the ball by his fingertips. From the 18 it took the Braves seven plays to reach paydirt with Ramey going the last three. The try for the extra point was no good.

In the second quarter, Logan Elm was deep in its own territory. The Braves couldn't move and a short punt gave Pickerington the ball in good field position again—at the LE 36. On the fifth play Campbell rolled out to his left, after faking to his halfback going into the right side of the line, and rammed 25 yards for the TD, he was nearly caught in his own backfield by Rawlins, but managed to elude his grasp on the touchdown run.

It was the last time the Braves let the Tigers score. LE fashioned a 73-yard drive late in the half, scoring with just 10 seconds to go.

One of the key plays in the drive was an interference call when a Tiger defender pushed Reichelderfer before he had a chance to catch the ball. That call gave the Braves a first down at the 10. Three plays later Crumley, behind good blocking by the LE backs and the midfield only late in the game.

In addition to scoring most of the points in the game Lambert also picked up 117 yards rushing. Quarterback Chuck Glitt was on target 11 times in 17 passes picking up a total of 121 yards through the air. His leading receiver was Boyd Palsgrove who caught three for 48 yards.

The Vikings travel to West Jefferson next week in their quest for the Metro football title.

left side of the line found paydirt with just 10 seconds to go. King kicked the extra point and LE took a 13-12 lead to the locker room at halftime.

The final score by Logan Elm came early in the third quarter. The Braves started from their own 34 and in seven plays scored. On the 20-yard scoring run, Ramey shook off Tiger tacklers all the way.

Pickerington penetrated to the Logan Elm 15 in the third quarter but the Braves held them there. In the fourth quarter Logan Elm advanced DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — "More movement, more excitement, more scoring — that's what we're after," said Tom Razzano Friday in announcing plans for an international football league to begin in 1974.

Razzano, an agent for professional football players, said the Universal Football League will combine the best of U.S. and Canadian rules plus some new ones and give running quarterbacks and smaller linemen an opportunity to compete in the professional ranks.

Mustangs Drop Hard Fought Battle To Unioto

Westfall was knocking at the door all night long but couldn't score in a 14-0 loss Friday in Scioto Valley play.

The Mustangs had the ball at the Unioto six-inch line, the four, the 10, the 12 and the 18, but could not get across the goal line.

Unioto's first touchdown was set up in the second quarter when Mustang quarterback Dave Shannon was hit just as he was getting set to pass. The ball was jarred out of his hand and Artie Dick, senior linebacker, paced the Mustangs on defense making three solo tackles and 13 assists in dragging down the ball carrier.

"I was proud of the boys even though they got beat," Coach John Glanton said. "They played a real good ball game."

The Mustangs have a 1-4 overall record and an 0-3 record in the SVC. Next Friday they travel to Zane Trace, an 18-0 loser to Paint Valley last night.

recovered by the Shermans at the Westfall 20.

Sherman quarterback B. J. Dailey carried the last two yards of the short drive for the score and Ed Matson booted the extra point.

In the third quarter, the Shermans took over at their own 22 and fashioned a scoring drive. Dailey ran the option for 36 yards and the touchdown and Matson again converted.

Dave Shannon was the leading rusher for the Mustangs, gaining 65 yards. He completed 10 of 16 passes for 92 yards in the air.

Teays Valley Blanks Marysville

Teays Valley shutout Marysville Monarchs 16-0 to boost their record to 3-0 in the Metropolitan League and 4-1 overall Friday. It was homecoming at Teays Valley.

The Viking offense rolled for 330 yards while the defense held the visitors to 101. Teays Valley had 13 first downs and Marysville settled for five.

All of the scoring in the game came in the second quarter. The Vikings had started a drive at midfield near the end of the first period.

At the quarter, they had moved the ball to the seven-yard line. The second play of the second quarter, they scored with Terry Lambert carrying the ball into the endzone from five yards out.

The two point conversion was made by Lance Henson. Marysville took the ensuing kickoff at the 18 and ran it back to the 30. The Monarchs could not penetrate across midfield and were forced to punt from the 47 yard strip. Lambert took the kick at the 15 and

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP) — Putting was the name of the game Friday for Jack Nicklaus and Bert Greene, co-leaders in the rain-plagued $125,000 Ohio Kings Island Open golf tournament.

"The greens had a lot of spike marks in the afternoon. Maybe that was good for me. The marks threw my putts back on line toward the hole," joked Green, who matched Nicklaus' three-under-par 68 start.

Greene had nine one-putters in his 28-putt round. Nicklaus was nearly as sharp on the soggy Nicklaus Golf Center greens, ramming in seven one-putters and taking 29 putts.

Both leaders benefited from Thursday's washout. Greene was one over par after seven holes. Nicklaus had an embarrassing 75, one of his worst rounds of 1973.

"I knew it was going to get rained out," the Golden Bear quipped, "so I didn't care what I shot."

It was a remarkable turnaround for Nicklaus, who can take over The money-winning lead from idle Bruce Crampton with a victory here, worth $25,000.

Instead of being seven shots behind Don Bies, the leader Thursday, he was sharing the top spot in quest of a 50th career tour victory. Bies had 71 this time.

Padres Move Is Delayed For 30 Days

CINCINNATI (AP) — There will probably be another 30-day delay before a determination is made on whether to keep the San Diego Padres baseball club in the West Coast city or transfer them to Washington, D.C.

The National League club owners, after a 4½-hour meeting Friday, decided to give Padres' owner C. Arnholt Smith more time, not to exceed 30 days, "to consider the possibility of further capital investment in the club and the negotiations of improved operating conditions to permit the franchise to remain in San Diego."

If Smith can't make arrangements, the owners' resolution says, there will be another meeting "to consider the application for the transfer of the franchise to Washington."

The owners' decision to delay did not sit well with Joseph Danzansky, the Washington supermarket president who, along with two others, conditionally purchased the Padres from Smith last May for $12 million.

The condition was the approval of the owners of the sale and the transfer to the nation's capital which has been without major league baseball since Bob Short moved the Senators to Texas two years ago.

Whittle Down Size Of Olympic Games

VARNA, Bulgaria (AP) — Ignoring the pleas of sports federations, the International Olympic Committee has taken the first firm step toward whittling down the size of the snow-balling Olympic Games.

After 1976 there will be no walking in the Olympics. The 50-kilometer walk, a traditional feature of the track and field program since 1932, was lopped off the Olympic calendar as was the 20-kilometer walk.

Other events were also chopped from the Olympic program—three in swimming, all four canoe slalom races and one event each from cycling and shooting.

Dan Ramey Leads Braves To Homecoming Victory

Powered by fullback Dan Ramey the Logan Elm Braves beat Mid State foe Pickerington 20-12 Friday to make their homecoming a happy one.

Ramey gained 125 yards rushing much of it coming on great second effort, and scored two touchdowns on runs of three and 20 yards. The Braves other TD was a five yard end run by halfback Terry Crumley.

Wes King booted two extra points for the Braves. Pickerington scored on runs of two and 25 yards by quarterback Fred Campbell. Both their conversion attempts failed.

Logan Elm now has a record of two wins and two losses in the Mid State League and is 2-3 overall. Pickerington is winless in five starts and is 0-4 in the conference.

Ramey's total could well be a Logan Elm record although coach Bob Stant was uncertain what the single game rushing record is. It was the second week the bruising fullback has gained over 100 yards. Last week the I.E. statisticians credited him with 106

Quarterback Steve Sargent was on target six of 12 passes for 106 yards. Sophomore halfback Steve Rawlins caught two for 36 yards, split end Brad Luckhart caught two for 24 yards, split end Phil Manson caught one for 42 yards and tight end Jeff Reichelderfer caught one for four yards.

In rushing totals, Wayne Linthicum gained 41, Crumley 25, Rawlins 21 and Sargent five.

Pickerington's first touchdown was set up by a recovered fumble at the I.E. 22 yard line. The game was only five minutes old when Campbell crossed the goal from the two.

Crumley ran the ensuing kickoff back 26 yards to the I.E. 46-yard line to give the Braves good field position for their first touchdown drive.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE
from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Use much tact and diplomacy in solving or settling any problems that may come up today. Renew your spirit with the finest ideas and principles. Some really wonderful things can come into your life. Make future plans.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Listen to what a partner has to suggest so that you can solve those problems that face you. Take care of your duties in the afternoon that can be helpful to your interests. Be cheerful.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make your living quarters more comfortable and invite loyal friends for entertainment. Not a good day for outside recreation. Plan your new week's activities tonight. Be logical.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal morning for attending the services of your choice or reading for inspiration and strength. Accept an invitation that comes to you unexpectedly. This could lead to something good.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you tap your subconscious, you will know exactly how to handle any agreements you have made. If your mate is in an irate mood, try to find out what is causing this.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Meet with associates today and cement better relations so it will be more harmonious. Try to control your temper. A demanding attitude could be disastrous. Relax at home tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get on the right track so that your life's goal can be achieved. Be sure to give more attention to health rules. Steer clear of those who are in an irate humor. Stay cheerful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Engage in recreations that are not too costly. Make appointments with others early in the day. Taking time for philosophical studies or services of your choice can be well spent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Ideal day to entertain at home but make sure that there will be no arguments. Find the right way to please kin but don't be extravagant. Think along very logical lines. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Attend the lectures and meetings that can be of great benefit to you. Become more modern in your thinking. Travel with utmost care when visiting. Don't get into any arguments.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study new devices, interests and expense-cutting methods today and know how to add to present income. An expert gives you good advice on how to become more businesslike in the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Taking particular care with your appearance today before you step out socially is important. Don't be argumentative and be sure to use that fine smile. Then have a good time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) There may be some unpleasant conditions now that could be turned to your benefit, so be on the alert for such. Do some deep thinking that will make your life more rewarding.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be blessed with practical attributes that can assure prosperity later in life. Your progeny would do well in any trouble-shooting profession since there is fine physical health here. Personnel work would be a fine choice. Sports as a profession is also possible. Give good ethical training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

CROP Chairmen Appointed; Walk Scheduled Nov. 11

Co-chairmen for the 1973 Pickaway County CROP Hunger Appeal of Church World Service are The Rev. Roy Osborn, pastor of Calvary United Methodist Church and The Rev. Charles Hemming of the Stoutsville Methodist Circuit. The two were appointed to replace The Rev. David Allardice, pastor of St. Philip's Episcopal Church, who has served as County Chairman for the past three years.

Representatives of area youth groups who have assumed committee responsibilities for the walk met Sunday to begin plans for the 1973 Hunger March.

The CROP program will begin with a CROP Hunger Meal 4:30 p.m. Oct. 28 at the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church service center for all area young people who wish to be a part of this year's walk.

The CROP Hunger Walk is scheduled for 1 p.m. Nov. 11, and is set to be a ten mile jaunt.

A rain date is set for Nov. 18 with collection days for the money raised for the walk set for Nov. 18 or 25. Each person is to obtain a number of sponsors who agree to pay a certain amount of money per mile which is collected after completion of the walk.
